

P. Nair has received $800,000 from GSK for two investigator-initiated clinical trials of anti-eosinophil treatment strategies. His research group is listed on a patent for a sputum filtration device and he provides scientific advice to a university spin-off company, Cellometrics Inc.